FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK – BY LARRY PRILL, PRESIDENT AGO

Well I waited till the last minute to write this column and as I'm typing this I have a temperature and feel as sick as a dog. But we need to get the newsletter out so I'm going to make this short and sweet. I always like to give extra credit for our members who played well, and at Dubsdread we finally had a good number of red numbers. First of all our best golfer was Jerry Fusco our low gross winner with a 73. Nice shooting. Dubsdread is tight and it's easy to have the wheels come off on any of the holes. Our low net winner was jump-in Jimmy Noon with a net 64. All the scores in the flights were tight. The winner of flight A, by one stroke is Bob Uppenkamp with a net 66. I was beat out buy 1 stroke for winning flight B, that was won by Glen Goodman with a net 65. Popular Tony Priem with a net 66 won flight C. Tony was spotted practicing at Dubs the week before so it appeared to have paid off. Tony also had lowest number of putts, 23 that also explains his good score. Also winners of closest to the pin were Mosley, Nelson, Atkinson and Czechowski. Nice shooting to all of you.

And here's a few suggestions from your board. Number one read your rules sheet before play begins. We go to a lot of trouble to make those available so you can see what tees we're playing from, course rules, drop areas, where are out of bounds etc. Those sheets are reviewed by the course so the info on there is official. Another thing, after you are done playing, have someone from your foursome bring the scorecards directly to the scoring area. Don't waste time by going to your cars. The people keeping score would like to finish as early as possible so they can also go and have a beer or something to eat. Plus if your round is over 5 hours and 10 minutes you could be DQ. Another reminder, keep your own scores, this way you can compare them with the official card that will be turned in. Especially if you're in gross skins, we really need to see that card. We've had instances where the wrong skin was reported verbally for a hole, which caused a conflict. So keep your own scores so we can verify.

Next month we're playing out at Providence, which is a nice course. It's pretty wide open so there should be many opportunities to score well. I hope to see a good turnout and we appreciate your continued support. Ask a guest to play, we always need more members.

Question: Hogan's Alley: What and Where Is It, and Why Is It Called That?

Actually, Hogan's Alley isn't an "it," Hogan's Alley is a "they" or "them." Because there are multiple Hogan's Alleys in golf: Two golf courses are nicknamed Hogan's Alley, and one golf hole is named Hogan's Alley.

Answer: The two golf courses nicknamed Hogan's Alley are:

- Riviera Country Club in Pacific Palisades, Calif.
- Colonial Country Club in Fort Worth, Texas

And the one hole that is officially named Hogan's Alley is:

- No. 6, Championship Course at Carnoustie Golf Links, Carnoustie, Scotland

In each case, these locations are called Hogan's Alley because of the successes enjoyed there by Ben Hogan.

We'll start with the individual hole, the No. 6 at Carnoustie. This hole is a par-5 with a split fairway. The safer play is go up the much wider right side, but the better line is up the narrower and more dangerous left side.

In 1953, during his only appearance in the British Open, Hogan played up the more dangerous left fairway - bunkers on one side of the tight landing area, out-of-bounds on the other - all four days. He won the tournament, and the hole became nicknamed "Hogan's Alley." During a ceremony in 2003, Carnoustie officially renamed the hole Hogan's Alley.

The two golf courses picked up the nicknames of Hogan's Alley because Hogan was so successful at each.

At Riviera, Hogan won what was then called the Los Angeles Open three times, the first in 1942. But it was following the 1947-48 seasons that Riviera started to be referred to as Hogan's Alley. That's because Hogan won three times there in that two-year period: the Los Angeles Open both years, plus the 1948 U.S. Open.

Colonial Country Club has always been the site of what debuted in 1946 as the Colonial National Invitation Tournament. And Hogan holds the tournament record with five victories. He won the first two years of the event, 1946-47, plus in 1952-53, and again in 1959. Hogan is the only golfer to win the Colonial in back-to-back years, and he did it twice. It's also noteworthy that his 1959 win at Colonial was the last of his PGA Tour victories.

24-2b/7 Relief from Obstruction Interfering with Swing Incidentally Gives Relief from Intervention on Line of Play_____

Q. A player's ball lies behind an immovable obstruction. The obstruction interferes with the player's swing and also intervenes on his line of play. In obtaining relief from interference with his swing, must the player drop the ball in such a position that intervention on the line of play is maintained?

A. No. Since the obstruction interferes with the player's swing, the player is entitled to relief under Rule 24-2b. If, in proceeding under this Rule, the player could drop the ball in a place which would also avoid intervention on his line of play, he is entitled to do so.
